Spectrado is a young startup company founded by a team of experienced selling strategists with years of previous working experience in this field. Our goal is to create the top online electronics selling portal for German speaking region.

Since our expertise is selling, we needed a partner who can transfer our concepts to an online shape. "Profesional+" helped us achieve exactly that.

The platform we choose to go with was Magento, which was not their main field of programming expertise, but they have easily found a way to solve it. "Profesional+" joined their forces with "Open Kinetix" development group and together they've managed to setup not only the shop we wanted, but to develop the custom solutions that made our working procedures much simpler and easier to go with.

"Profesional+" handled project organization and communication in a very simple way, but still on a high level of professionalism.

They also suggested us perfect hosting solution, which is very important in Magento world and helped us handling system administration.

Besides making sure the developers were going the right way and giving advices on how to make things better, they also helped us in giving the right form to the website content and also provided us with a great graphical designer.

At the end we got the project running with all of the concepts we wanted.

And not only that, we now have a reliable partner for all of our future stuff we want to achieve.

Kindly regards,

Dipl.-Ing. Voja Tasevski
